

Recap of last meet at BADRC

Contributed by brett
Thursday, 22 July 2010
Last Updated Friday, 23 July 2010

Some of the more interesting stories and events from last race meet:

- Evo finally getting back in to racing with his brand new Team Associated Nitro Buggy, only to have the front end demolished in the first race of the day when Popcorn landed on it.
- Scotty 2 Hotty being distinguished in the 1/10th Buggy final by 'Team' boss Sean. Were team orders in place?
- Karl leading all heats in CORR truck, only to have a malfunction in the final, ending with a DNF. Almost made it with 3 wheels.
- All the CORR Truck drivers would like to thank Matrus for test driving the track early, and finding that massive puddle for us. Donations are now being taken for Matt to buy either a waterproof Slash, or a submarine.
- Watching Karl trying to work on his brand new tightly spaced Losi (Darkside) buggy. Frustrating for him, entertaining for us.
- BAM's race calling, truely great (and entertaining) stuff. Check out the post by Loc'tar orgar on the BADRC RC-Tech forum page (link to your left). Priceless!
- Race Organisers locating the results board for our little Princess. Touching.
- Two nitro racers, marshalling an electric race, trying to find the overturned cars that had dissappeared, right under their feet.
- The Bad Luck Story of the weekend goes to Rok. Broke rear arm on first warmup lap of the day, broken rear shock tower, flat battery half way through CORR Truck final due to generator shutting down unexpectedly, and finishing off with splitting his pants whilst marshalling the hectic racing of the 1/8th Buggy final!